The works are characterised by webs arising out of lines wildly tangled through each other. In the image, a spatial depth is created by the networking and suggestion of the lines, which are all on one plane. These images give the viewer a feeling of recognising a figure that does not exist: „No body“. The installation: „I think therefore I am“, illustrates the doubts about whether we humans actually exist or not. Our minds look for meaning, deeper significance, contexts, signs or symbolism in all shapes.

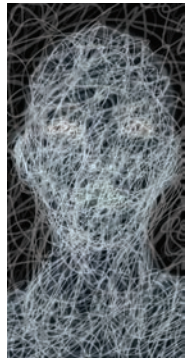

The series „Nobody“ embodies no real essence, but deals more with the supernatural or mysterious occurrence of thought.
